CINCINNATI, Ohio, July 3.—[Special.]—"I don't [illegible] to go back to Chicago and go on the Inside Railroad again," said Joel Stiggins, the late Cook County court contractor, today, and he exclaimed as he spoke that he was afraid of the effect of the water in the springs at Mount Clemens, where he and Mrs. Stiggins intend to remain for half a month. Mr. Stiggins has lately been for the first time in his life [illegible] who has seen many a tight old time with the members of the Cook County Board, some of which he frequently describes, and he seems determined to spend the Fourth.

It is [illegible] I can't afford it. That money belongs to me. I can't afford it. That money is my property as much as the profits of all the business I am with the county for seven years. LONDON, July 4.—Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, inquiring through his secretary in Mann's charge of a branch of Lords to consult with the Ormond bill, says the Government is not in favor of granting an appeal from accounts in all cases, but on behalf that the present existing fully adequate, and that further legislation was not needed. He informed the House that owing to the pressure of business it would be impossible to appoint a committee on safety grants as had been promised. The measure which is now necessary to prevent forfeiture of the Irish land bill, the Irish Land bill, was for transferring certain cases from Irish juries to Judges of the court to which the cases were transferred. He was the bills relating to tithe and rent charges, providing for the later application of arrears, for the reform of the church organization, and for the better regulation of boroughs, with the Opposition kept in the act of "Home rule"). but was persuaded from pressed not to be further to a progress of that measure.
